

10 questions to help you think about how safe a driver you will become?

1. You're on your own and your hand-held mobile rings when you're sitting at traffic lights.

- a) You answer and carry on chatting for a couple of minutes until you get to the shops.
- b) You answer and chat until the lights change, and then ring off and drive on.
- c) You ignore the call, drive to the shops and park, before phoning back.

2. You're driving your pals to a beach party. "Go on" says one, "put your foot down."

- a) You think, why not go a bit faster, it's a nice empty road.
- b) You think, I don't want to speed and continue driving within the speed limit.
- c) You say: "I'm the driver I'll decide what speed we go at."

3. You're giving a lift to some young kids who start having a muck about in the back seat.

- a) You turn around and shout at the top of your voice to get them to stop.
- b) You pull in at a parking place, turn round and tell them to cut it out.
- c) You tolerate the noise and report it to their family when you drop them off.

4. You're on the motorway and someone flashes you to move over.

- a) You choose a good time and move over to make way.
- b) You move over and make a rude gesture to the driver as he overtakes.
- c) You stay where you are, you are doing 70mph which is the speed limit.

5. You've just been flashed by a safety speed camera on an empty road early one morning.

- a) You think, I should know better; a £60 fine, that will teach me not to speed.
- b) You think, what an idiot, I didn't notice the camera; £60 down the drain.
- c) You think, it's not fair, £60, the Government is fleecing good drivers like me.

6. You're 18 and you've just passed your driving test. You're in the mood to celebrate.

- a) You're the driver now and you're happy to stick to drinking Coke. It's cool.
- b) You decide to take the bus and meet your friends in a bar up-town. Hot stuff.
- c) You buy a bottle of something nice to have with your folks at home. Cheers.

7. You're showing off a bit with a friend, he says: "Slow down, you'll get us killed at this rate."

- a) You say: "I'm the driver I'll decide what speed we do" and slow down.
- b) "Don't you trust me?" you say "My granny is more fun to have in the car, than you."
- c) You slow down; friends must have confidence in you, or they'll never get in the car.

8. Before you set off you notice that two of your friends have not fastened their seatbelts.

- a) You decide that it's such a short journey it's not worth the fuss.
- b) You say: "OK you crowd, seatbelts on now or get out and catch the bus."
- c) You say: "Look folks if I get stopped it's a £60 fine, so belts on if you don't mind."

9. You're beside the driver and notice that he/she is doing 60mph in a 40mph zone, in town.

- a) You say nothing; it's not your business to interfere.
- b) You say: "There's a safety speed camera ahead, I know a guy who was done recently."
- c) You say: "This car can shift, do you know what speed you're doing?"

10. You're feeling tired. Your flight was delayed and you're now driving home late in the dark.

- a) You wind down your window and turn the music up loud.
- b) You remember a sign that says "tiredness kills" and pull in at a service station for a kip.
- c) You pull in at a shop for a "red bull"; you knock it back and feel wide awake again.